ACK AUSTRIAN GOVERNMENT FOR EXTENSION OF TIME TO ALLOW MEETING OF PARLIAMENT.

RUSSIA TAKES A HAND

Charge d' Affaires of St. Petersburg Government Intercedes in Behalf of Serbia—Grave Complications Feared.

BULLETIN.

Buda Pest, July 25.—Special editions of the newspapers announced this evening that Serbia has unconditionally submitted to the demands of Austria.

BULLETIN.

Vienna, July 25.—Shortly before six o'clock the Austro-Hungarian minister at Belgrade presented a note to the Serbian foreign office saying the Serbian reply was unsatisfactory. The Austro-Hungarian minister and the staff of the legation then left Belgrade.

BULLETIN.

London, July 25.—Serbia has accepted Austro-Hungary's ultimatum, according to a special cablegram received here. The acceptance was received through the same sources, it is rumored that King Peter of Serbia has abdicated.

BULLETIN.

Vienna, July 25.—The Austro-Hungarian government refused all the requests of Serbia to extend the time limit for the reply to his note.

Belgrade, July 25.—Serbia, according to sources usually in close touch with the foreign office, has requested Austria for an extension of time in reply to the notes, asking for a delay until the Serbian parliament, which has been summoned to an extraordinary session, shall have been convened. It is believed that the Austro-Hungarian government is ready to grant the Austrian demands as far as possible without damage to her national prestige.

All the safes containing the state archives and funds of the various banks were removed to the interior of the country today for safety.

The Austrian legation sent its archives to Semlin, Austro-Hungarian territory across the Danube.

The cabinet was in constant session under the presidency of the crown prince who is acting as regent of the kingdom.

Vienna Bulletin.

Vienna, July 25.—A dispatch from Belgrade to the Neue Freie Presse, says "Serbia has decided to accept the Austrian demand under protest." It is an extension of time of forty-eight hours in which Serbia may request to Austria's note was requested today by the Russian charge of the affairs.

There was a marked improvement in the tone of the news in a report that Serbia has yielded.

London, July 25.—In all the European capitals today a gloomy view is taken of the Austro-Serbian situation arising out of the presentation to Serbia by the Austrian government of the ultimatum demanding the submission of the Serbian government to the punishment of those responsible in the assassination in Bosnia of the heir to the Austrian imperial throne. Diplomatic circles see in the dispute and in the attitude of Austria an interference on behalf of the little Slav nation, the danger of a general European war.

Stock Market Nervous.

On the London stock exchange devaluation set in at the opening of business this morning, owing to a rumor that Russia had begun to mobilize her great army in preparation for eventualities. Dealers of food, everything, and British consols fell one and one-quarter per cent, to seventy-two and three-quarters. Rio Tin and three other stocks, Russian bonds two and a half, Austrian and Hungarian two points, while leading American stocks were quoted at from one to three dollars below parity. Canadian Pacific, however, showed the most loss. A fractional hardening occurred this forenoon, but the market remained nervous and excited.

The Serbian government up to this morning had given no hint as to what its reply to the Austrian note would be, but in quarters not official no hope was held out that the answer would be favorable. Should this turn out to be the fault, unless Russia would be successful in her efforts to have the Serbian ultimatum extended in favor of Austria, it would, it was pointed out, before many hours passed, take steps to enforce her demands.

Servians Leave Capital.

An exchange telegraph company's agent from Vienna says news has reached there today to the effect that Serbian forces are making preparations to leave Belgrade, the capital. It is held that the troops already in the city which is considered indefensible and are retiring towards the south.

Already parts of the Russian press have taken a defiant attitude demanding that the government in St. Petersburg undertake the protection of Serbia. The Russian government clearly recognizes that the Austrian ultimatum is particularly directed against Russia and is replying not only by word but by the requisite action. Serbia is being subjected to an unlawful attack and will not remain alone.

The attack on the other hand says the other hand have been in no way disposed to enter into conflict with the government in the near future and our English friends are all giving the prudent advice to the effect that the means of averting the European conflict is by giving an encouragement to Serbia.

Await Serbia's Reply.

Vienna, July 25.—The general view here is that the Serbian ultimatum is directed in connection with the Austrian note with the greatest confidence, although the people know it is a question of peace or war. A number of demonstrations have been held, but there is no sign of nervousness.

No surprise was caused here by the communication published in the official journal of the Russian government, stating that the St. Petersburg government was seriously preoccupied by the ultimatum addressed to Serbia by Austro-Hungary, and that

HOME RULE TROUBLE WILL STIR COMMONS

Fight Will Now Center on Amended Bill Which Comes Before Parliament Next Tuesday.

London, July 25.—Since the failure of a conference on the Home Rule situation between the leaders of the various political parties at Buckingham palace, politicians have turned their attention to the next step to be taken in the home rule controversy.

Premier Asquith and the members of the cabinet remained in town for the greater part of the day, and several communications passed between King George and the premier, but no meetings were held.

It is understood that much depends on the result of the meeting of the Irish national party on Monday, when the Irish home rule bill, the amendment bill comes up for discussion on Tuesday in the house of commons. Many of them consider that the Ulster unionists rejected the offer of a settlement embodied in the amendment bill as originally introduced. The bill should be withdrawn, and the home rule bill allowed to become law, under the operation of the parliament act.

The government, however, is generally expected to urge the passage of the second reading of the amendment bill in the belief that, failing this, so that it may be restored to its original conditions in the committee. This, it is pointed out, would give another chance for discussion with the possibility of reaching an agreement. Few, however, expected this step to be successful. The unionists are preparing for a general election in the belief that, failing a settlement by consent, premier Asquith will advise the dissolution of parliament.

RAILWAY MEDIATION CONFERENCE FAILS TO SETTLE DISPUTE

Federal Board Unsuccessful After Week's Session Will Continue Efforts to Arbitrate.

Chicago, July 25.—Mediation has failed to settle the wage difficulties between the ninety-eight western railroads and their fifty-five thousand employees. After a week in session the federal board of mediation and conciliation today announced that it was trying to effect a working basis by which both sides would consent to arbitrate their differences.

Decline in Labor Costs.

A statement just issued by Chief Engineer Stone, defending the course taken by the engineers and firemen, shows a decline in labor costs and seems to prove that the railroad pay comparatively less to labor now than in former years. Pertinent paragraphs read as follows:

The statements issued by railroad officials showing how the outlay for labor has increased have become commonplace. To the reader of the daily press who does not stop to consider the matter they create the impression as those who issue them wish to create, that a large part of the financial woes of the transportation companies at the present time is due to the demands of railroad employees for higher rates of pay. A statement of the facts, however, shows how unwarranted these statements are.

Equipment Responsible.

The delay in the operating performance of the carriers at once discloses the fact that the railroads by using larger engines, heavier equipment and by adding to train loads have developed a remarkable increase of efficiency of employees, and while adding to the labor of the wage-earner have reduced to a striking degree the labor cost of conducting transportation.

Examination of the annual reports of fifty-three western railroads to the interstate commerce commission shows that for 1,000 traffic units handled in 1913 the cost of engineering and firemen was 38 cents as contrasted with 59 cents in 1912. In other words, these representative western roads were enabled to transport 1,000 passenger and freight units for less than last year than in 1913, or to reduce their engineer and fireman cost of handling traffic 31 per cent. In the light of these facts, the sham of the claim of the railroads for increased pay is apparent.

PROHIBITION ISSUE IN TEXAS ELECTION

Dry Fight is Big Issue in Texas Democratic Primaries for State Offices.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Dallas, Texas, July 25.—Prohibition to vote for or against state-wide Democratic primaries for the nomination of governor, members of the legislature and other state officers, was the issue of the hour today in the prohibition candidate for nomination for governor and James E. Ferguson of Temple was backed by the "wet" forces.

The fight was even carried to the contests for nomination to the Legislature, because it will be up to the people to decide whether the people shall have another chance to vote for or against statewide prohibition. At the very top of the ballots in the primaries today the voter was given an opportunity to vote for or against the submission of a constitutional amendment prohibiting within this state the manufacture, sale, exchange and intrastate shipment of intoxicating liquors, except for medicinal and sacramental purposes. "Even if the dries nominate Bell the wets have hopes of defeating submission by controlling the next legislature. The referendum on the submission question today was intended only as a guide to the Democratic leaders who will draft a state platform on August 11.

The nomination of a Democratic candidate for governor is equivalent to a declaration of war. The bitter personalities marked the campaign between Bell and Ferguson. Besides the prohibition issue the promises of the candidates have dealt with education, educational appropriations, prison reforms, and agricultural problems. A congress man-at-large was to be nominated today from among eleven candidates.

Imitation is Flattering

Nothing so testifies to the merit of standard articles as the extent they are imitated.

An army of "me too's" and "just as goods" flock after the trail of the sure standards.

Wise dealers never offer the imitations when the real articles are called for.

It is not considered business ethics or a wise policy.

There is larger profit in selling the imitations, but they do not build business.

They disappoint and the public loses confidence in the store that sells them.

The quality of the trade-marked articles advertised in The Gazette from day to day is the kind of quality that makes reputation for the merchant who sells them.

OPEN CONVICT CAMP FOR WORKING ROAD

Trial of Honor System for Prisoners at Waupun Proving Successful.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Waupun, July 25.—The first convict road camp in Wisconsin was organized here July 15 when thirty men, picked by Warden Woodward for their records while in prison and through recommendations from judges and other officers, began work on the Waupun-Chester road.

The trial camp was made near here in order that it might be under the supervision of the officials. It is the fulfillment of the warden's pet measure in prison reform. If successful it will be extended hereafter.

The honor system will give a full tryout in this scheme. A camp with sleeping and cooking tents has been set up at the stone quarry on the prison farm about two miles from the prison. Here for the three months it is estimated it will take to complete the road, the convicts will live. Over them will be W. G. McLean, a state highway commissioner in charge of construction, and a guard from the prison. These men will live in the quarters with the prisoners.

A visit to the first section of road being built showed the convicts wearing khaki trousers, work shirts and straw hats, in no way distinguished from ordinary day laborers. In no way, in one prison, in no way marked the faces of the men. They came from the shops. Though they took hold of the hard work willingly, they were "soft." One man, Alfier, had served ten years and was for the first time getting his first glimpse of broad blue sky and rolling hills.

During this season, besides the pleasure of life in open and the assurance that confidence is reposed in them, the only advantage the men will receive will be a small daily wage to be sent to their families. The next legislature, however, will be asked to pass laws for the indeterminate sentence and the good time law.

"We need these laws in this state," said Warden Woodward, "if we are to successfully operate convict labor in road building. The good time law grants every man selected by the warden and who goes out on a pledge of honor, a reduction of one-third of his term. The only advantage the men will receive will be a small daily wage to be sent to their families. The next legislature, however, will be asked to pass laws for the indeterminate sentence and the good time law.

FALLS IN COLLAPSE WHEN LOVE LETTERS ARE READ IN COURT

MADAME CAILLAUX SUFFERS BREAKDOWN WHEN SHE HEARS HER HUSBAND'S LOVE NOTES.

JUDGES PLAN A DUEL

Presiding Justice in Sensational Paris Murder Trial Said to Have Issued a Challenge to One of Colleagues.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris, July 25.—Madame Henriette Caillaux, soon after she was brought into court today for the sixth day's session of her trial on the charge of murdering Calmette, totally collapsed when the reading began of the letters headed in by Madame Gueydan. She was carried insensible from the court.

The sitting of the court immediately suspended amid great uproar. As soon as the court had opened today Maitre Labrie began reading some of the Gueydan letters. He remarked, when he took up the second one:

"In this you will find burning love, but nothing indecent as common rumor has reported." In the letter M. Caillaux, writing to the present Madame Caillaux before his divorce from Madame Gueydan, referred to the happiness he could feel when he could "press a million kisses over your dear body."

Cries During Reading.

While the reading was going on Madame Caillaux wept bitterly. Her sob could be heard all over the courtroom.

Then with a sigh she fell prostrate to the floor. The four judges rose from their seats and Judge Albanel announced suspension of the hearing.

Madame Caillaux later recovered consciousness and said she felt strong enough to go on with the hearing. M. Caillaux, who had been in the prisoner's enclosure in court, and a chair was brought for her to sit on instead of the prisoner's bench. She was livid and haggard and her features were distorted.

After he had seen her comfortably arranged, M. Caillaux once more took his place among the witnesses, and Maitre Labrie made the announcement that no more letters would be read. The letter read in court today was not as had been generally assumed. They were those which were supposed to have been in the hands of the assassinated editor, and the threats whose publication were understood to have driven Madame Caillaux to commit the crime.

Her Condition Serious.

In the meantime Madame Caillaux had been lying in a bench in the courtroom, where she was surrounded by doctors. One of the republican guards took of his tunic and made a pillow for her.

The physician, who had thought she was suffering merely from a fainting spell, decided when she remained unconscious to give her a hypodermic injection.

Madame Caillaux appeared to have broken down completely and was breathing with difficulty, and such was her condition that her husband was admitted to her side.

The letters were written in the second person singular, indicating the closest friendship.

The first of them said:

"My dear little Henriette: When I met thee I felt the impulsion of all my being toward thee. I was unhappy. I was humiliated and wounded. I threw myself into a fever of furious passion. With splendid courage thou hast reconquered thy liberty, asking me but one promise—to give thee my love. There was between another person and myself such a difference of character that I felt that I must have everything to fear from a woman's fury."

Refers to Politics.

M. Caillaux, who had then entered into details of the local political situation and other matters and said he thought he might not enter the contest at the general election for the chamber of deputies in 1910.

The second letter, seven pages in length, was begun on October 18, 1909, and finished on the following day. It was written on the official note paper of the prefecture of the department of the Seine, and said:

"My beloved little Riri: At last I have a minute to write thee." Then followed a long account of a cattle show at Le Mans, and of a visit by M. Caillaux to Paris, and it then resumed:

"Thou must be very reasonable and stay at Dinard for the present. I fear only one thing—blackmail. Perhaps someone will make a scandal. Some time I am very discouraged. What a life! I have but one consolation—thee."

The letter concludes: "A thousand million kisses over all your adorable little body."

Judges Plan Duel.

A challenge to a duel was sent today by Judge Lewis Albanel, presiding judge of the court trying Madame Caillaux, to Judge Louis Dagory, one of the three other judges sitting on the bench with him.

The quarrel between the two judges arose out of an incident which occurred in the palace of justice late last night, but the nature of which could not be ascertained. The second appointed by Judge Albanel are General Jael Delteil, former military governor of Paris, and Amle Labore.

When the discussion concerning the reading of Madame Gueydan's letters seemed to be going unfavorably for the defense during the reading of the letters, Judge Dagory announced that there would be a recess. The Figaro affirmed today that Judge Dagory then said in low tones: "You dishonor us."

PHILIPP GAINER IN WEEK'S CAMPAIGNING

CONSERVATIVE REPUBLICAN MAKING FRIENDS IN THE ENEMIES COUNTRY.

NO PEACE IS IN SIGHT

For the Democrats Who Are Still Passing Buck Between Karel and Aylward—Kearney is Busy.

By Bob Acres.
N. B.—This is one of a series of articles on the Wisconsin political situation written exclusively for the Gazette.

Even the fever heat of July weather is no barrier to campaigning in this year of our Lord Nineteen Fourteen. The hotter the weather the more strenuous the campaign and the warmer the speeches. Travel by auto is fast as to journeying from town to town by train or bus and even beats walking all to bits so that the auto has become a factor in politics these days.

I was not over enthusiastic over the chances of Emmanuel Philipp of Milwaukee landing that gubernatorial nomination from the field of other republicans when the time came to select in Madison, but I am forced now to alter my views and am free to say I think he has made wonderful strides along the path that leads to victory during the past week to say the least. He has taken the campaign trail and he has facts and figures to quote and they can be substantiated everywhere he goes by one look at the tax receipts for the past year. This helps a lot.

He and his side partner, Judge Levi Bancroft, have divided forces and are covering all sorts of territory between them. Levi for lambasting the present administration, Philipp for selling the future. It is a good combination and one that is really bringing home the bacon as the saying goes. Taxes are topics that the farmers, the city resident, in fact, everyone in the state, are vitally interested in.

The real sensation of the week was the reading out McGovern from the ranks of the progressive by Robert M. La Follette. In view of the fact that two years ago La Follette and his democratic allies, Aylward and Davies, elected McGovern governor over Karel, this change of heart of the "boss" of the rank and file of the state, his eleventh hour confession he has been mistaken, comes as a surprise and also as a joke. Just who it will help is not certain, but it will do McGovern no good and is certainly meant to aid Morris in his fight for the senatorship.

I am going to quote from La Follette's pronouncement: It is too good to keep hidden beneath the bushel and its light should shine forth unobscured. The senator says: "There is complaint of high taxes in Wisconsin this year. There is reason for it."

The annual appropriations for university and normal school buildings were much beyond the amount which can be wisely and economically expended.

These appropriations doubtless carried with them others which are justly open to criticism.

Such a course begets waste and looseness in administration.

Those who conduct government assume grave responsibility. The appropriation and expenditure of the people's money is the execution of a public trust.

Then he further in his statement says his complaints to McGovern as follows:

And upon whom should fall the responsibility of this waste to eat cake and a great commonwealth?

The executive office is the clearing house on appropriations. There is no detailed information on all legislation pending and passed. There are no appropriations listed, there are no aggregates known. And there is lodged the final power in one hand to insure the passage of an appropriation or to smother it with a veto that makes an end of it. There are no associates to be argued with or convinced. There stands the executive under the constitution, a veritable colossus, with a strength the equal of two-thirds of all the members of both the assembly and the senate combined. When he says "This is an unjust tax burden upon the people; I can not approve of it," or "The aggregate of these appropriations will compel the levy of a state tax and is greater than warranted at this time; I return the bill without executive approval for your further consideration," then the bill is dead as Julius Caesar. The legislature represents the people's interests. It may find at least a plausible excuse for an appropriation in which his particular constituency receives an advantage. But the executive represents the whole state and for that reason he is clothed with a constitutional power over legislation nearly a hundred fold greater than that of a single legislator. His veto is not a mere veto; it is the largest measure of responsibility for the tax burden of which the people of Wisconsin complain.

Really, this latter should help Philipp, for there is one of the candidates for governor on the republican side of the fence that stands for what he does, a business administration of state affairs and a reduction of the tax and that is just what La Follette advocates.

Meanwhile the democrats are still fighting. The Donnanbrook Fair was merely a marker to what is going on in every section of the state where the democratic factions clash. Take Rock county for instance. The convention here last Tuesday, from what I can learn, was anything but a love feast and the factional feeling was intense and bitter enough to satisfy anyone. On one side was a democratic postmaster, A. Davies, appointee, leading the Aylward force and on the other was a disappointed democratic aspirant for a postoffice, a Karel leader.

Meanwhile the senatorial candidates are hopping to it with a vim and spirit that shows they mean business. Congressman Cooper of the first district, republican member of the house for twenty years, is in the field again for the nomination, thus far without opposition and practically without opposition after nomination. Cooper is a valuable man in Washington and his retention at this time is a necessity. I am glad he has decided to stick to congress and not try for the senatorship in this troublesome election.

F. N. BLAKELY RETURNS FROM TRIP THROUGH EAST.

Fred N. Blakely of the Bower City Bldg. Posting company has returned from Atlantic City, N. J. where he has been attending the National Bill poster's convention which held a three day session. Mr. Blakely was gone twelve days and visited a number of eastern points of interest.

DEALERS WILL OBEY CHAMPION'S ORDERS

Few Protests Made Over Chief of Police's Sweeping Order Against Slot Machines.

Following the order of Chief of Police Champion dealers, who own slot machines, raffle cards, punch boards and the other forms of petty gambling paraded by the police, making preparations to obey the regulation and ordinance. With a few exceptions, the dealers have not protested the order to any marked degree and several expressed an opinion that it was a "good thing."

Chief Champion this morning further emphasized his order that every form of chance game will be prohibited. Dealers who asked Chief Champion about the slot machines were answered that every device whereby the player does not receive full value for his money without the element of chance is included in the order. The question was asked as to the validity of the ferris wheels or wheels of fortune where a player always obtains trade for money that is played. Marked places on the wheel allows for two or even five dollars if the wheel stops on the winning figures. Chief Champion stated that these will be included in the order as it had been the spirit of gambling found that by using a system of "five or nothing" on the wheels the player stood to lose money. At intervals on the wheels stars or bars were marked. A player by placing a nickel on the wheel can gamble on receiving twenty-five cents in trade if the hand of the wheel stops on one of the stars.

Another device is being investigated and it was not certain what action Chief Champion will take on this trade machine. At numerous cigar counter machines for nickels have been installed whereby the player obtains full value in trade for his money but every nickel played goes into the "pot". A revolving wheel with numbers on is set in motion by the playing of the money and if the machine stops on a certain figure, for instance 000, the player wins the pot. Dealers declare that these machines are in no way a violation of the law and within the limits of the ordinance.

Another practice which Chief Champion declared was the practice of cutting cards for the past year and more and very few violations have been brought to the attention of the department. The order to be effective Monday came as a surprise to all the dealers who were not expecting such a sweeping enforcement of the ordinance.

CAMP IS POSTPONED FOR SEVERAL WEEKS

Y. M. C. A. Juniors Will Wait Until After Janesville Chautauque Before Enjoying Outing.

The annual ten days' outing and camp for the Y. M. C. A. junior boys, has been postponed from next week, until some future time, after the visit of the Lincoln chautauque to this city. Arrangements could not be perfected at Lake Delavan, for the taking care of the thirty or more youths, who planned the event, and a postponement on these grounds was found to be necessary.

A huge crowd of people from central United States are turning Lake Delavan into a great resort, and all hotels are being taxed to their limits every day. The crowds, also, are a cause for the boys not going to camp until later. Satisfactory cottage arrangements cannot possibly be made at the present time.

About a half dozen senior members of the Y. M. C. A. have hired one of the cottages at Delavan for next week, and will enjoy an outing. They originally intended to go with the junior youngsters.

EHRLINGER ELECTED CLUB'S COMMODORE

Janesville Launch Club Names Officers at Meeting Last Evening—Provide Lighthouses.

Lewis G. Ehrlinger was elected commodore of the Janesville launch club at its meeting at the east side dock on Friday evening, August 1st. Mr. Bear who refused re-election, Thomas Riley was chosen vice commodore and Dr. Ira Holsapple secretary and treasurer.

The club voted to maintain two lighthouses, one at Swallow Hollow and the other at the site of the old dam just above Burr's Springs, and an order was passed reimbursing E. J. Manning for the work of erecting and maintaining the same. The lighthouse at Swallow Hollow has been in operation for most of the summer while the other will be erected at once. The lighthouse is Mr. Manning's own device and consists of a can of oil four feet in depth supplied with a long wick and a lamp with red globe. The lamp burns day and night and one supply of oil will last for the whole season.

The club also decided on annual dues of one dollar per member which must be paid before July 1st each year. The name of each member will be dropped from the membership role.

The question of improving the river channel by removing more stumps and other obstruction was discussed but nothing definite was reached. There were about twenty boat owners at the meeting.

TALKS ON THRIFT

No. 20—How to get on in the world

"Argument should not be necessary to convince people that Thrift is one of the foundation stones of success in any line of endeavor. Economy, acquired in youth and nurtured through middle age, rarely fails to make old age honorable and secured." Ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge.

If you want to get on in the world, make yourself comfortable, and even enjoy some of life's luxuries, look about you and see how others have done it. Then do likewise.

Trace every fortune to its source and you will find there someone saving money. Putting it out at interest. Making the interest earn more money. You can't get away from the fact that most of the men who are successful did not wait for things to happen. They went out and made them happen. A savings account in a good bank will help you command opportunities.

Say this: "I will start things coming my way and make it my business to keep something out of my earnings for my family and myself, be it ever so little, and deposit it regularly in some bank. I will think twice before I spend, and through steady saving I will prepare myself for my opportunity."

What has been accomplished by great business enterprises, by the farmer and by the merchant who owes his wealth to efficient methods may be accomplished in like proportion by the individual. Personal efficiency holds too great rewards to be regarded with indifference.

Efficiency is the prevention of waste, not of money alone, but of thought, time and effort, the tools with which money is made.

Every dollar you earn is a unit in your success. The part of it you save is a unit in your fortune.

JANSVILLE STARS PLAY WITH YOUNG NATIONALS

Jansville Stars will cross bats with the Young Nationals of Jansville Sunday at the Caloric diamond. Both of the teams have been beaten by the Collier Hill Eagles and a fast game is expected. The batteries will be the Stars' Hovland and S. G. G. while the Nationals will have Byrne and Hill to do the dirty work.

Sport Snap Shots

Jake Daubert, the hard hitting first sacker with the Brooklyn Dodgers, might have been a Cleveland Nap today if it hadn't been for George G. G. playing first for the Naps at the time of our story. Stovall himself tells pretty well how it was that he prevented Daubert from joining the Naps and taking his job away from him.

For nine years I was the Nap first baseman at both the start and end of the season, but for nine years I was always somebody trying to take my job from George G. G. I learned most of the youngsters about in the spring because that's the time to make sure of your job. Besides, in the early spring I always get a few hits in the exhibition games to hit about 500. In all, twenty men tried to copy my first season with the Naps, but all were sent back.

One year Daubert tried out for the Naps at first I saw he was going to be the toughest of the lot, so I outdid myself. I started hitting like a man, and in the exhibition series of the games I batted something like .300.

I haven't got a chance for that yet, but I Daubert. 'Me back to the Naps.

Others seemed to think the same way, and Daubert went back. Sooner or later the best first baseman in the game today get away from him.

Steve Evans, outfielder with the Brooklyn Reds, recently played first base for a game and did so well that he was asked why he didn't play first base all the time. Steve explained that when he first came to the big league that was his regular job. When the first day I showed up with the Naps, Merkle was playing first. I was sitting on the bench that day. Merkle cut a double in the second inning and in the third he grabbed a hot throw about four feet over his head. In the next inning he jumped for a few more high ones and got an and then a double in the fourth inning, too, and in the sixth hit a ball over the fence for a homer. Just about then McGraw walks up to me and says, 'What's your position?'

'Me, I says, 'Oh, I'm an outfielder.

Whether or not they win a flag, the Cincinnati Reds will probably be the biggest money makers in the National league this season. They have played thus far to the two largest crowds of the year. On May 31 at Cinncy there was a gathering of 28,000 fans at the Red Park, and June 20 at the Polo grounds, New York, there were 30,000 present. Cincinnati is always a hot baseball town and when they have a team that shows gleams of real ball playing they pack the stands. The showing Charley Herzog has made this year has brought the Red bugs out in swarms. Many Hierrmann snickers excessively.

"If you want a thing done right, do it yourself," is the motto of Jimmy Beckard, the Cleveland A. A. manager. He was in bad need of a timely hitting outfielder not long ago and decided to take a chance at it himself. And the very first day he put over two lovely singles and won the game for the Bearcats.

STATE VS. HEYM IN COURT ON MONDAY

The troubles of Mrs. Frank Yost and Edward Urban have not stopped with the decision in the suit for replevin for Monday. The case against August Heym on the charge of pointing a revolver at Urban will be brought in the municipal court. The case was called after the war against Heym on July 16 at which time Heym pleaded not guilty to the charge.

The case was then adjourned until Monday, the 27th, at which time it is expected the action will be tried. The complainant, Edward Urban, charges that the aged suitor for the hand of Mrs. Yost pointed a gun at him and threatened his life. It appears that Heym, jealous of the youthful Urban, took steps to force the young man to leave Mrs. Yost's house. In a tussle that followed the alleged threat it is said that Urban with the help of Mrs. Yost took the revolver from the wrathful Heym.

SON OF DAN PATCH HERE FOR TRAINING

Direct Patch, Four Years Old, Owned By T. H. O'Brien of Fond du Lac, Arrives at Local Track.

By C. E. (Buck) Hunter.

T. H. O'Brien of Fond du Lac on Saturday, last, shipped in five head of trotters and one of the fastest stallion ever driven in a team or single to appear on the local track during the coming Jansville Fair and drive against the track record for the mile and also the half mile for state record. Dazel Patch, the fastest of the young colts of the famous Dan Patch will be his team mate and will be entered in the 2:18 pace with entry money of $100 for prize to drive against time and with a view of obtaining experience in a large field of horse preparatory to starting in the famous $20,000 purse at the Panama canal exposition. Dazel Patch has a record of 2:02 1/4 and is one of the best of the younger horses on the circuit today. With these two famous pacers comes Electric Patch, a three year old trotter who recently took down a record of 2:12 and is one of the prides of the famous Savage stables. Electric Patch will be on exhibition at the fair, and will be on exhibit at the fair. Aside from these Mr. Savage will confide to the care of his head trainer Mr. Lang, a noted eastern driver some of his promising colts that will be entered in the various purse events of the four days racing program. In order to bring into prominence the importance of the appearance of his string of horses at Jansville, Mr. Savage has planned to be present himself and has invited hundreds of breeders and dealers in southern Wisconsin to attend the fair to witness the performance of his horses. Mr. Nichols is to be congratulated on securing this attraction and it is understood that the horses will wear Jansville made harnesses from his factory during their appearance in the city.

Buck Hunter. A s t u r t i u m. By Traganite, 2:10, has recently been converted from the trot to the pace, and is taking very kindly to the new gait. A mile in 2:14 before coming here has been the limit of his work so far this season. Woodland, 2:11 1/4, by Woodland Boy, 2:07 1/4, is the fastest performer in the O'Brien stable at present. Bessie has been racing very successfully for the past three years and out of all the starts she has made has always been a hard contender and usually getting a piece of the money. Cecil Woodland, full sister to Bessie, has a record of 2:10 1/4 made two years ago, and has been very unfortunate the last year in not being able to start. While she has shown more speed than her sister, it is only to be hoped that she will be able to hear the bell this season.

The O'Brien horses are in charge of Frank Nolachek, who has trained Mr. O'Brien's horses since he has been in the game, and it is only to be hoped that good luck will follow him this season, as in the past.

The heavy rain on Friday put the jinx on training and it was the intention of one or two trainers to do some fast work, consequently the news end of the horse game will have to hold over until some fair day when the track is right and then we will be able to give you the full line of work.

A. Gilmore, "the hoof artist," that was here last season during our races, was very much surprised to see the improvements that have been made on the track since he last was here. Just returned from the Michigan short ship circuit, where he has been doing the shoeing, and declares there is no place outside of Detroit that will equal Jansville for fair grounds. The construction work on the new buildings at the fair grounds are attracting not a little attention and the dispatch with which the work on the grandstand is progressing has dispelled all uneasiness aroused for fear it would not be completed in time for the opening. Ten more carpenters were set at work on the structure during the week; the roof has been erected and the seats are now being placed. Without a doubt it will be in shape for the opening day of the fair.

CRANDALL TO TWIRL AGAINST NORTH ENDS

Crandall and Hall Will Be Jansville Battery in Game Sunday at Yost Park.

Ladies and Gentlemen: The batteries for today will be, Jansville Cardinals, Crandall and Hall; for Beloit, Bush and North. Play Ball! This will be the announcement of the game when the Jansville Cardinals and Beloit North Ends into action at Yost Park Sunday afternoon, if fortune smiles on the players and does not bring torrents of rain preventing the game.

The Milton College twirler will grace the rubber for the Cards, and Crandall should be in prime form to mow down the Beloit swatsmen. Last time Crandall opposed the North Ends it was all pie for the locals, for he made the Beloiters take the dreary end of a 6 to 1 score and came near rubbing the whitewash brush over the men from the Line City. Bush, Beloit's slab artist, "got his" in two games this year against the Cards, the Jansville nine trimming him 11 to 10 at Jansville also. The Cardinal ranks will be formed as follows: Crandall, P. Porter, 1b; But, Hall, 2b; Hell, ss; Ryan, 3b; Neher, Berger and Sullivan in the outer garden. Cook of Jansville and Moran of Beloit will do the arbitrating. The biggest crowd of the year is expected, as the Beloit and Jansville K. C.'s hold a oint picnic at the park.

On Wednesday, for one day only, Cecelia Loftus, one of America's most popular actresses, will be seen in a Famous Players production. A more complete announcement will be found on page four tonight. On Wednesday "Way Down East" comes to Jansville for the first time in photo play.

FAMOUS HORSES WILL BE HERE FAIR WEEK

George Gano, Dazel Patch, And Electric Patch of the M. W. Savage Stables to Appear on Local Track.

President John C. Nichols of the Jansville Park Association has closed a contract with the M. W. Savage stock farm for the appearance of George Gano, time 2:02, the fastest stallion ever driven in a team or single to appear on the local track during the coming Jansville Fair and drive against the track record for the mile and also the half mile for state record. Dazel Patch, the fastest of the young colts of the famous Dan Patch will be his team mate and will be entered in the 2:18 pace with entry money of $100 for prize to drive against time and with a view of obtaining experience in a large field of horse preparatory to starting in the famous $20,000 purse at the Panama canal exposition. Dazel Patch has a record of 2:02 1/4 and is one of the best of the younger horses on the circuit today. With these two famous pacers comes Electric Patch, a three year old trotter who recently took down a record of 2:12 and is one of the prides of the famous Savage stables. Electric Patch will be on exhibition at the fair, and will be on exhibit at the fair. Aside from these Mr. Savage will confide to the care of his head trainer Mr. Lang, a noted eastern driver some of his promising colts that will be entered in the various purse events of the four days racing program. In order to bring into prominence the importance of the appearance of his string of horses at Jansville, Mr. Savage has planned to be present himself and has invited hundreds of breeders and dealers in southern Wisconsin to attend the fair to witness the performance of his horses. Mr. Nichols is to be congratulated on securing this attraction and it is understood that the horses will wear Jansville made harnesses from his factory during their appearance in the city.

SECOND DAY'S PROGRAM TO PLEASE HIBERNIANS

Chautauqua Lecture on "Ireland and Irishmen" Will Be Given by Alexander Corkey.

Jansville Hibernians will take special pleasure in the afternoon program of the second day of the chautauqua, when Alexander Corkey will give his lecture on "Ireland and Irishmen." Corkey says, he is an Irishman and glad to be here. He is essentially, he applies the native wit and keen analysis of his race to the moral, social and economic problems of the day. The program of the day is mighty sweet and good to Dr. Corkey. He has lots of fun. His audiences, leaving the chautauqua tent, will believe this and will return to their work with a new vigor and a much finer disposition toward their fellows than had they not heard him.

For the evening program of the second day, Dr. Stephen Everett Crowe gives a stereopticon lecture on the Panama-Pacific exposition and Mr. Corkey gives another popular lecture, "Music for the day." The lecture will be given by the Mason jubilee singers. The personnel of this company is made up of cultured and worthy young people; they know what it has been in the life of their race and the music of their race that delights an American audience. It will be their pleasure to render in a very much more than unusually acceptable manner, and with the keen understanding which they have of their implied meanings, a great many of the old negro songs. Prof. DuBois makes the statement that the negro race has exercised more creative power in the realm of music than has the white race of America. Whether he be right or not, this occasion is one to remember.

GOOPS

How long the dirty water stands When Lydia Dole has washed her hands! She is a Goop, or she'd have seen Before she left, that all was clean. Don't you be like that Lydia Dole, And leave the water in the bowl! Don't Be A Goop!

upon which our chautauqua people may well base their own judgment of the comparative values of the music by the two races. With the melodies, these people will impersonate and otherwise enliven their numbers so that the moods of laughter will be second only to the moods of music.

That's Why.

He had been calling for some time and she thought she would give him a gentle hint. "It is not good for man to live alone," she said. "That's why we have clubs," he responded calmly.

Feminine Faith.

A woman is perfectly willing to trust her life's happiness to a man, but she never has faith enough in him to permit him to pick out a $22 rug—Topeka Capital.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

"Do show me God," I cried, and walked beside my friend;
I wished to feel, to realize, to know,
God's place with Man below."

We entered a cathedral vast,
With gilded spires and minarets and dome
And golden cross raised high in air.
We watched the worshippers afar; God was not there.

Within a mosque we heard the prayers,
Scented sweet incense floating there.
We saw Him not.

A church we entered, organ tones
With vibrant harmony did roll,
Setting the tender human soul to carry it aloft;

Our senses inspired with hope,
But truth must still in darkness grope.
It was not God.

We walked the country dark and drear,
No stars shone forth.

A blinding flash, a roar, a gleam;
Two from the steely tracks were thrown.

One stooped to bind the other's wounds,
And God was there.

We stood within the tents of war,
A sweet-faced angel fitted round;
A drink of water here she passed,
A break kind comfort to the next,
Writing letters to the next.

I looked; I dared not speak a word,
For Christ walked by her side.

The city street was traffic filled,
The cry of "Fire" our bosoms thrilled;
We watched the run, the ladders high,
Flame-clouds were mounting to the sky.

There one appeared at window clear,
Saying a life to someone dear,
Losing his own—I looked again,
Behold, it was the Christ.

We viewed an awful night of pain,
Recurring and again, again;

At last exhausted slunk to rest,
The babe lies pillowed on her breast,
The hovering wings of angels near,
And Christ, ay Christ, is always there.

E. M. Rodebaugh is the author of his choice little poem, which defines so clearly God's place. It should help to clear away some of the fogs and mysteries which bedevil the minds of so many people who have been taught to believe that the only dwelling place of Deity is up above the canopy of blue in a place called heaven, which portal eye hath never seen.

A little girl of half a dozen summers is very curious to know where God is,
and frequently keeps her mother musing with all sorts of questions as to what He looks like, and how she might recognize Him if she should appear to meet Him.

Many older brains are troubled in the same way because the supernatural or spirit life, is so unreal, and so difficult to comprehend that all efforts to solve the problem are lost in mystery.

To this class of thinkers, the God of nature is in no way related to the God of grace, and people who find sanctuary which satisfies, in the realm of the great outdoors, and neglect the same dedicated to worship, are considered blasphemers.

These narrow-minded mortals are no more charitable to the larger class of God's children who devote their lives to service, with no thought of future reward, or of heaven as a final dwelling place.

To their notion a profession of faith in some creed, and enrollment in some church record, is a passport to the life to come, and this is of most final importance.

They regard morality and honesty as virtues which God has nothing to do with, and the people who possess them are entitled to no particular credit unless they profess religion.

They seem to find satisfaction in saying that neighbor Jones is a good, moral man, and it is too bad that he must be finally damned, and all because he isn't a professor.

Have you ever met this class of people? They are found in every community—people who assume the divine right to be censors, and who occupy a little pedestal elevated above the common herd, and who profess a degree of perfection which is absolute.

These people never see God except as revealed to the eye of over-wrought imagination, and their conception of Him is that He occupies a throne out beyond the stars, where some day in the great hereafter they hope to meet Him face to face.

Should their hopes be realized they say and it is difficult to recognize Him as does the little girl whose mind is not yet capable of reasoning.

Here is a little creed, based on the theology of no particular church, endorsed by many people who may or may not be subscribers to any particular faith, who believe that the life of the here and now is of supreme importance.

"I believe that God is everywhere.
That He fills this and every other and so full of His presence, that it enriches human life, and brings out the best there is in humanity.

"I believe that every child which comes into being, whether in Christian or heathen lands, is a child of God.
That He has no favorites, and that every soul is immortal.

"I believe that every conscience, everywhere, is prompted to do right by the still small voice of God within us, and that when this voice is heeded, however badly the life may be hampered by environment or ignorance, that every Divine requirement has been met.

"I believe that God walks abroad in the land today, not as a spirit, but in the bodily form of His children, who represent Him, and who fulfill His mission with human hearts and hands."

This short creed expresses the belief and sentiment of many people who spend but little time in worrying about the hereafter, but who devote their lives to service.

The world is growing better, not because of supernatural power, but because people have come to realize that the great work of human betterment is entrusted to their keeping, and so the work goes on in practical ways.

The committee having in charge the Carnegie hero fund, recently sent out a pamphlet containing the names of the men and women who had been rewarded for some deed of heroism.

The great unpublished list of heroes who command no attention, would fill many volumes. These choice souls represent one of the highways where God walks in human form and where
His presence is easily recognized.

There are other avenues where love is expressed through sacrifice and the combined tread of these mighty forces for good is like the marching of a great army. And while the God who reigns beyond the stars is a God of mystery, the God who reigns in the hearts of men is always visible to normal vision. If the heaven of the future is ever reached and enjoyed it will be through some of the avenues which lead up to the nearly gates from every and clime.

The great concern of life is not death, for that is our common lot, but what can we do for our day and generation.

On The Spur of The Moment

The Musical Comedy.
It's not so very hard to write,
At least it shouldn't be.

Take some old plot that's rather trite
And very plain to see.
Steal all the situations and Steal all the music, too.

From some big hits of bygone years,
As many authors do.
Be sure and have a tenor and
A mezzo who's a peach;

Be sure and lay one of the scenes
Beside the sunlit beach.
For then you have the bathing suits
Cut short but very loud.

In that way you are always sure
To draw the baldhead crowd.
The chorus girls they need not sing,
Their costumes must be taken from
The latest fashion books.

You need one good comedian
To hurdle into view.
And spring some jokes that were heard.

When Babylon was new;
Some oogie-gogie loveless songs,
The kind that whistle well;
Some chorus men in high silk hats
Make the production "swell."

Take these ingredients and add
A well-known, high-priced star.
Get some durned fool to back the thing
With coin, and there you are.

Uncle Abner.
You kin lead a Mexican president to water, but you can't make him drink it.

All fellers are free and ekel in this country, provided they have got money.

There was a feller through our town the other day trying to sit a right-of-way for a wireless telegraph. Well, there don't seem to be nothing to hinder.

An optimist is a feller who kin look a butcher shop in the face and smile.

To amass a fortune a feller has got to do something besides git up at 6 o'clock in the morning.

A Chicago young woman was bound and gagged while she was playin' the piano. This sort of thing ought to nappeo offener.

Lem Higgins has been savin' up his money for five years to go to a summer resort for a week, but thinks he ain't saved enough, and will wait and go next season.

A feller can't show his patriotism any better than by swatting a fly whenever he sees one.

Next to carryin' on a pleasant conversation with one of your wife's relatives, the hardest thing in this world to do is to ride on the back end of a motorcycle over a corduroy road.

"Inasmuch as there is goin' to be a bumper alfalfa crop in the west this season there won't be no shortage of campaign cigars this fall.

Old Stuff.
"The groom was attired in conventional black."

"Smoking allowed on the four rear seats."

"Save your wrappers."

"Good morning, judge."

"Come up to dinner with us SOME night."

"A widow woman."

"Please pay the cashier."

"Large and respectable audience."

"No pictures will be shown which will offend the most fastidious."

"Don't lean on the showcase."

"Man is made of dust. Dust settles.
Be a man."

Traffic Signals.
In order that the automobilists, wagon drivers, pedestrians and others may understand the system of traffic signals now in use in cities we have decided to publish them.

Signals given by traffic officers:
When signaling "Come on," wiggle the ears vigorously and kick three times with the left hind foot.
When signaling "Stand still," scratch the left ear and reach around to the hip pocket for a claw bar.
When signaling "Turn to the right," wiggle the right elbow slightly and place the left thumb in watch pocket.
When signaling "Turn to the left," tap pavement gently with the left foot and wiggle the upper lip.
When signaling "Back up," wiggle little finger on right hand and rub left foot against right shin.
Any automobilist who can remember these signals will get into no trouble.

"Mister Badger" Proved to Be a Very Troublesome Visitor

While the diminutive badger is the emblem of the great State of Wisconsin, his appearance in the vicinity of Janesville has caused many old timers to shake their heads and recall the days when the state obtained its name through the fact that the lead miners in the western part of the state used to work their shafts in the winter and come to the surface of the earth in the spring with the results of their toil in the shape of huge piles of shining lumps of the "in-nards" of the earth.

White Lawrence Kehoe and Bert Kutts were working in the hay field of the Kehoe farm, three miles out on the Milton road, they discovered the presence of a badger under a pile of hay. The hay had been cut and was being pitched into hay cocks
when the animal made his appearance, and for a time he was master of all he surveyed.

Kutts attacked his assailant in true badger style and made things interesting for them, showing that he did not believe his name. For fighting a badger has cards and spades on any other beast who is playing for game.

Mister Badger concluded that if he must be captured he would make his captors remember the fight, and he has.

He was not until he was pinned to the ground by the tines of a pitchfork so securely he could do nothing but snarl that he was subdued. Even then he fought savagely for freedom, and even when secured by a leather collar and a length of good strong chain and wire did he give up the fight.

In the picture he is noted as sitting on top of a barrel. He did not like the picture, the picture did not like the man, and wanted to bite and show his skill as a "fighting man." He was in restraint, however, by a series of fine wires from his collar to a good sized chain he could not break, and is now the possession of his captors.

struments, ensemble.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by Dr. J. C. Kenney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken in-

TEMPTING RECIPES FOR COOKING VEGETABLES

These recipes for preparing vegetables are offered by Miss Cora E.
Kunzel, instructor in home economics,
University of Wisconsin extension division.

Fresh Peas.—Wash the peas, shell cover the pods with cold water, and boil until the peas are tender. Drain, add peas to this water, and simmer uncovered until tender; if there is too much liquid pour off part of it and season
peas with salt, pepper, a little sugar, and melted butter. Serve hot. Utilize the water in which the peas were cooked for soup. To save fuel and time the pods may be tied in a piece of clean cheesecloth and cooked with the peas.

Asparagus.—Wash the vegetable thoroughly, scrape the lower part of the stalks and cut off the woody part.
Tie in bunches and place in an upright position in a deep stew pan.
Pour in boiling water to come up to the tender heads, but not to cover them. Boil gently until tender, with cover partly off. Drain, place on buttered toast, season with salt and butter, and serve at once. Use the water for soup. The tough part of the stalks may be cooked in the water with the asparagus.

Spinach.—1/2 peck spinach, 1/3 cup butter (drippings may be used), 1/2 cup cracker or bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon onion (chopped fine), 1 egg,
1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper.
Clean the spinach, put it in a kettle without water, set on back of stove to cook slowly until the juice is drawn out, then boil until tender. Drain and chop. Brown the onion in the fat, add the spinach, beaten egg, crumbs,
and seasoning. Reheat and serve,
garnished with lemon and hard-cooked eggs.

Carrots and Peas.—2 cups of carrots, 1 cup peas, 1/4 cup butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, and 1-1/2 teaspoon pepper. Wash, scrape and cube the carrots. Melt the butter, add the flour, and when well blended and bubbling add the water. When the sauce is smooth add the carrots and cook until tender. Just before the carrots are sufficiently cooked add the peas. If the peas are large add them to the carrots earlier, allowing twenty to twenty-five minutes for cooking. It may be necessary to add more water during the cooking.

For Blood Stains.

MAKING GREAT PLANS FOR FAIR IN AUGUST

PARK ASSOCIATION DIRECTORS PROMISE FINE AGRICULTURAL EXHIBIT.

LIST OF ATTRACTIONS

Excellent Speed Program, Vaudeville Acts, Band Music and Political Speakers Are Secured.

When the gates open for the initial meeting of the Janesville fair, Tuesday, August 4, everything will be in readiness for one of the most successful exhibits that has ever been held in southern Wisconsin. New barns, new grandstand, new sheep, swine and stock sheds, thoroughly renovated horticultural and fine arts buildings, fresh with paint and interior decorations and with a mile and a half mile track in the finest possible shape, the four days of the meeting give promise to be an event long to be remembered.

Nor has the energies of the directors of the Park association been directed simply toward new buildings. An excellent program for the entertainment of the visitors has been prepared, with new and interesting features, horse races of first water calibre and exhibits of fine stock that will delight the eyes of all who take pride in blooded animals.

Tuesday, the first day, is children's day. The Moose club of Janesville will furnish the music for the day and there will be special events for the children. Foot races, bicycle races and athletic events in which the young men will take part, prizes have been arranged. There will be two horse races, colts that are being trained for big circuit work and the big, free exhibition of Prof. Durbin's Society Hippodrome.

Wednesday is Moore day. The Moore and Moore family, who are from southern Wisconsin, has been engaged and aside from the regular race program the free hippodrome, the political speakers will begin their three days' talk to the assembled crowd. For example, the Republican candidate for the nomination for United States senator, and Hon. Emanuel Philipp of Milwaukee, republican candidate for the nomination for governor, will deliver their views of the political situation.

Thursday is Janesville day. An effort is being made to have all the stores in the city close for the afternoon on that day so that all who wish to attend the fair can do so. The Bower City band has been hired for the day and will start early and play late for the delight of the crowds. Judge Karel, the second of the political speakers, the democratic candidate for governor, will deliver his address on Thursday. The Bower City band will be here for the day. Hon. James Clancey of Stoughton and Hon. Thomas S. Richmond of Madison, both prominent in the Home Rule League, will be the speakers of the day. There will be the regular race program, the free hippodrome and other special features.

Friday is Edgerton day and the Edgerton band will be here for the day. Hon. James Clancey of Stoughton and Hon. Thomas S. Richmond of Madison, both prominent in the Home Rule League, will be the speakers of the day. There will be the regular race program, the free hippodrome and other special features.

Freight indications are that one of the finest exhibits of blooded stock ever shown in the southern part of the state will be entered in the various classes and on Friday at 12:30 there will be the stock parade, past the grandstand, and through the grounds that will be well worth viewing.

One of the features that the management is now negotiating for is an exhibit of the famous six months old yearling colts which was purchased by four Chicago stock fanciers with farms near Palatine, Ill., recently for twenty thousand dollars, the biggest price ever paid for a bul of that age. These colts will be on display every day, by some of the best flat racers in the country. These with the regular race program for the afternoon give lovers of good horse-flesh plenty of excitement.

TELLS OF WORK IN DARIEN, MANCHURIA

C. V. HIBBARD, FOREIGN Y. M. C. A. WORKER, TAKES LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Canadian Without Money. Orders: Generous Breakfast in Cafe After Being Two Days Without Food.

A stranger walked into a cafe on Monday night, and after making himself at home at one of the tables, looked over the tempting menu and started ordering enough food for three men.

Bring me a big steak, double order of potatoes, corn beef and cabbage with all the trimmings. For breakfast the waitress considered this was rather a hearty meal, but nevertheless called back to the cook in the kitchen the stranger's order in the usual contracted form. When the food was brought to the man, he ate with a gusto of a healthy man and soon completed this order.

Bring me a piece of pie, no, bring two pieces and a cup of coffee. This was brought to the man and went the same patch as the steak and corn beef.

When the stranger finally finished satisfying his appetite he looked at the ticket the waitress slipped down beside the corner of his plate.

The ticket said sixty cents. Disregarding the ticket the stranger gently told the man in charge of the cafe that he was "strapped," and might as well think of buying the ticket and block as paying for his generous breakfast.

He was "bounced" and the police called. At the police station the man gave his name as L. Jolt and stated that he was a Canadian and for forty-eight hours previous to his "lunch" at the cafe had not partaken of food. He explained that on looking in the cafe window and seeing food he could not resist the temptation of one good square meal.

Chief Champion declared that two days without food was about the limit of punishment and released the man after arrangements were made for paying for the sixty-cent breakfast.

TWO DAYS WITHOUT FOOD IS TEMPTER

Canadian Without Money. Orders: Generous Breakfast in Cafe After Being Two Days Without Food.

A stranger walked into a cafe on Monday night, and after making himself at home at one of the tables, looked over the tempting menu and started ordering enough food for three men.

Bring me a big steak, double order of potatoes, corn beef and cabbage with all the trimmings. For breakfast the waitress considered this was rather a hearty meal, but nevertheless called back to the cook in the kitchen the stranger's order in the usual contracted form. When the food was brought to the man, he ate with a gusto of a healthy man and soon completed this order.

Bring me a piece of pie, no, bring two pieces and a cup of coffee. This was brought to the man and went the same patch as the steak and corn beef.

When the stranger finally finished satisfying his appetite he looked at the ticket the waitress slipped down beside the corner of his plate.

The ticket said sixty cents. Disregarding the ticket the stranger gently told the man in charge of the cafe that he was "strapped," and might as well think of buying the ticket and block as paying for his generous breakfast.

He was "bounced" and the police called. At the police station the man gave his name as L. Jolt and stated that he was a Canadian and for forty-eight hours previous to his "lunch" at the cafe had not partaken of food. He explained that on looking in the cafe window and seeing food he could not resist the temptation of one good square meal.

Chief Champion declared that two days without food was about the limit of punishment and released the man after arrangements were made for paying for the sixty-cent breakfast.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

ARE YOU GROWING?

THE above couplet is the conclusion of a clever little satire aimed at the foolish self-satisfaction which underlines most of our pretensions of humility and unworthiness.

Since I read it, it has popped into my mind every time I have been inclined to be pleased with myself over some childish little accomplishment, and I pass it along in the hope that it may do the same bubble-pricking service for others.

"Self-satisfied is most of us." And what a little satisfied!

Isn't it half appalling and half amusing when you stop to think how easily we are pleased with ourselves? The tiny effort toward self-improvement, the slight measure of business success, the trifling act of self-sacrifice, the small social triumph which we have achieved with a warm glow of triumph simply because it was we ourselves and not another who achieved them. If we were only half, may one-tenth, so pleased, one-tenth so impressed with our neighbors' achievements would indeed be pleasant to live with.

I verily believe that as many men remained mediocre because their progress is arrested by the stultifying intoxicant of self-satisfaction as are ruined by the more commonly recognized variety of intoxication.

But should one never feel self-satisfied even if one has really accomplished something worth while, you ask?

No, never. Approve of yourself if you deserve it when judged by the same standards by which you judge your neighbor; but don't be self-satisfied, because then you will stop trying to improve, and that is one of the greatest tragedies that can come to a man or woman.

If a child stops growing physically before he is fifteen or sixteen years old, we feel that a very sad thing has happened. When a man or woman stops growing spiritually and mentally this side of the grave, a far sadder thing has happened.

Do you ever stop and ask yourself if you are still growing? Are you broadening out mentally in any direction? Do you do what ever work is your portion in life—be it teaching, bookkeeping, selling, managing men, or homemaking, a little better today than you did five years ago?

Are you growing spiritually? Are you building up your character? Have you had any real control of your temper that you had five years ago? Have you succeeded in doing something toward crushing out that tendency to jealousy or that habit of procrastination?

While there's life, there should be growth. In nature when a thing stops growing it begins to decay. So self-satisfaction, with its rest of growth, leads to mental and spiritual gangrene. Are you still growing? If not, look out.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Will you please tell me how to make turtle soup? Which turtles are used, soft or hard shell?

(2) Please give me your recipe for nut bread.

MRS. M. (1) Usually soft-shell turtles are used, as the meat is easier to get out, but a hard-shell turtle can be used just as well.

After the head is cut off plunge the body into boiling water to loosen the shell. The bottom shell comes off comparatively easy.

Dig out the meat and discard entrails, just as if you were cleaning a chicken.

Good, clean meaty parts and cut these into small pieces not larger than dice. To two pounds of turtle meat use four carrots, three onions, a little thyme and parsley, pepper and salt to taste and four quarts cold water. Slice the onions and two of the carrots and fry brown in drippings.

Tie the thyme and parsley in a little cloth bag, to be dropped into the cold water. Grate the other two carrots into water and boil slowly four hours. Then strain and season, boil fifteen minutes longer and serve hot.

(2) Nut bread: Four cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoonful salt, one-half cup sugar, two cups milk, one egg, one cup walnuts (raisins, too, if desired). Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together, then add nuts (and raisins if used). Beat in milk and add, stirring with knife. Put in greased pan, let stand twenty minutes, then bake one hour in slow oven.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girls of nineteen and fourteen years of age.

(1) Is there too much difference in our ages for us to chum together?

(2) What would be nice to take on a picnic luncheon?

(3) What kind of dresses would be suitable to wear?

(4) Is a girl of fourteen too young to go on a picnic with a boy of eighteen?

(5) You may have very congenial tastes, why not chum together, no matter what your age be?

(6) Sandwiches, of course—make some of white, some of brown and some of whole wheat bread, with meat, cold meats and vegetables. Sandwiches of chopped raisins and nuts mixed with mayonnaise are nice, or chopped olives and celery between lettuce leaves, or chopped egg and cucumber between lettuce leaves. Deviled eggs are nice for picnics, pickles, fresh fruits or vegetables (such as tomatoes or radishes), filled cookies, lemonade syrup, small spiced cakes and nut cakes, or candy.

(7) Wash dresses simply made.

(8) No. But she would not wander off into the woods alone with him, but keep where the other folks are.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I have several large blackheads in my face. They have been there a long time. How can I get rid of them?

(2) What would be pretty colors for a high school class—something that is not so much used.

MAGGIE K. (1) Massage the face with cold cream every night and wipe off surplus cream with a clean cloth. Next morning wash the face with fairly hot water and mild soap, then rinse with cold water. The blackheads appear soft enough, prick with a needle (sterilized in boiling water), and gently press out the blackhead. Don't bruise the skin and if the blackhead is not soft enough, wait a day or two, repeating the cold cream and hot water treatment. After squeezing out the blackhead, anoint the spot with peroxide or alcohol. Keep up the cold cream massage every night to clear the skin of all dirt, and always wash the face in the morning with warm water and mild soap, and rinse well afterward with cold water. Our skin will soon become so healthy that you will have no blackheads. Meantime, of course, keep your stomach and bowels in good condition and eat no rich, sharp or spicy foods.

CHEESE AS A FOOD

Break the eggs into a buttered baking dish or into ramekins and cook them in a hot oven until they begin to turn white around the edge. Cover with the mixture of crumbs, cheese and seasonings. Brown in a very hot oven. In preparing this dish it is essential that the oven be very hot or the egg will be too much cooked by the time the cheese is brown. To avoid this some cooks cover the eggs with white sauce before adding crumbs.

A second class consists of cheese soups and vegetables cooked with cheese.

Cheese and Vegetable Soup.—Two cupsful of stock, two tablespoonfuls of finely chopped carrots, one tablespoonful of chopped onion, a very little mace, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one and a half teaspoonfuls of salt, one cupful of scalded milk, one-fourth cupful of grated cheese.

Cook the vegetables a short time in one-half of the butter, add the stock and the mace, boiling 15 or 20 minutes. Strain and add the milk. Thicken with flour cooked in the remaining butter. Just before serving stir in the cheese and cook until it is melted.

Cheese With Potato Puffs.—One cupful of mashed potatoes, one-quarter cupful of milk, one egg, half teaspoonful of salt, half cupful of grated cheese.

Beat the potatoes and milk together until thoroughly mixed. Add the egg and the salt and beat thoroughly. Finally add the cheese. Bake in muffin tins in a slow oven 10 or 15 minutes.

A similar dish may be made by scooping out the inside of a baked potato and mixing it with cheese as above. Fill the potato skin shell with the mixture, return to the oven and bake until light brown.

A third class comprises such dishes as cheese salads and cheese sandwiches.

Cheese Salad and Preserves.—Epicurians have devised a dish which consists of lettuce with French dressing served with cream cheese and thick preparations of currants or other fruits preserved in honey or sugar, which, owing to the fact that the seeds have been extracted by a laborious process, are fairly expensive. The soft cheese often found in market is also relatively expensive. There is a suggestion in this dish, however, for others which are much less costly.

Buttermilk cream or ordinary cottage cheese served with lettuce or other green salad and a small amount of rich homemade preserves, is a combination with much the same character, and also very appetizing.

Cuban Sandwiches.—This sandwich may be described as a kind of club sandwich with cheese. It is usually made large so that it is necessary to eat it with a knife and fork. It may be made in such proportions as to supply a large amount of nourishment.

Cheese Wafers.—Spread grated cheese on thin crackers, heat in the oven until the cheese is melted. Serve with soup or salad.

Cheese Relish.—Spread bread which has been toasted or fried in deep fat with grated cheese, or with grated cheese mixed with a little mustard, then heat in the oven until the cheese is melted. This may be served with salad, or as a relish to give flavor to some dish such as boiled rice or hominy, which has no very marked flavor.

In preparing the cheese it has often been found convenient to use a very coarse grater, having slits instead of the usual rounded holes, thus preventing clogging.

Emotions Expressed in Dancing. In the Vedas of the Hindus, some of which date back 8,000 years before Christ, there is steady reference to dancing as an expression of triumph, worship, and even the deepest grief. It is the same in the Zendavestas of the Persians. Dancing with cymbals and tambourines, with bells tied to their ankles and wrists or around their waists, was an art that the priestesses in the temples must understand.

Chocolate Ice Cream.—One quart of thin cream, one cup of sugar, few grains of salt, one and one-half squares of baker's chocolate or one-quarter cup of prepared cocoa, one tablespoonful of vanilla. Melt the chocolate and dilute with hot water to pour easily, add to the cream; then add the sugar, salt and the flavoring and freeze.

Chocolate Blanc Manger.—Soak a package of gelatin in a half pint of cold milk for two hours. Stir a pinch of salt to the soaking point in a double light with a small cupful of granulated sugar. Stir the soaked gelatin into the hot milk and when it dissolves pour the hot liquid gradually upon the yolks and the sugar, then whip in five tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate wet to a paste with a little cold milk. Put all into a double boiler and cook, stirring all the time, until the boiling point is reached. Remove at once from the fire and beat the eggs, and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Pour in a mold wet with cold water and set in a cool place to form. When ready to serve, wrap a cloth in hot water, wrap it for a moment about the mold and turn the contents out upon a chilled glass dish. Eat with powdered sugar and rich sweet cream.

Macaroons.—One-half pound of almond paste, whites of three eggs, three-eighths pound powdered sugar.

Peggy & Company

XXVIII. Brother Tom, Scenting a Change in Peggy, Indulges in Some Oratory.

The manner in which Aunt Betty has awakened in Peggy the heretofore dormant spark of domestic instinct has made an impression on every member of the Gray family. Father and Tom and mother, each of them, has at one time or another conveyed to Aunt Betty their sense of amazement at the wonders she has wrought.

Whereat Aunt Betty would protest cheerily that she was not at all to be thanked. Peggy, she said, was a natural-born housewife. On this point, however, mother's dubiousness, though polite, was well marked.

Tom, of them all, was the most outspoken in his astonishment. With fine masculine candor he has repeatedly rallied Peggy and Aunt Betty on the matter and latterly has begun to assume indignation and declare that if things continued he would be obliged to call a halt.

"I am grieved, Aunt Betty," he is saying today, to note the pernicious influence you have had about this little home. I regret that I must plunge going a joy. The children were dressed in their best, with Mollie, the oldest, put in charge of the baby, while three of the young merry-makers were sat upon the table in a row. This, Mrs. Farley knew, was not just what one could term proper, but she also knew it would greatly facilitate a clean start. She slipped into her gown and the trip to the car began. It was with a sigh of genuine thanksgiving that she watched them board the picnic-bound car, looking for the world like a number of little cherubs—with the exception of Jimmie, who had smugged his face a little.

Father was on the ball team and his three young sons yelled themselves hoarse as he stood up to bat. Father was not as slim as he used to be and mother was sincerely hoping that he would make a home run. She had great faith in father, and if anyone in the world could do things as they should be done, it was dad. But even her loyal heart took a downward slide as he fanned the first curve which came from his southpaw opponent and was (due to his running a better shop all week) peculiar to itself. dad hit fair and square and sent it flying far beyond the left fielder. Despite his avowedly, he circled the diamond with a speed that would put to shame many a young filly of the local racing stables. Even mother stood up and waved as he slid in just in time to win honor and fame with a home run.

In the tug of war dad was again prominent and the married men's team won from the single men. This only proved mother's time-worn assertion that a man was far better off married. In the course of the afternoon one of the boys fell out of a bat, but as they were near shore his looks was all that suffered injury. Ice cream, lemonade, crackerjack, peanuts and all the other necessary adjuncts to a successful were to be had, but as they were near shore out his money he had but one desire—that their wishes might be satisfied before he went broke.

Much against the wishes of the three older children, they returned to the city on the six o'clock car and looking at the bedraggled little crowd one thought, "They're back—not the gallant six of the morning."

After the last baby had been sponged off and put to bed, the house put in order and things prepared for morning, mother walked over to where dad was sitting and perched herself on the arm of his chair. "I was so proud of you this afternoon," she said as she ran her fingers through his silver-streaked hair. "I thought of the picnic we went to—you and I—when your good playing won the game for our side. Remember—you made a home run?"

Did he remember—could he forget? He shut his eyes. He was a boy of twenty. Mollie was seventeen. That was the night she had whispered "yes." The stars had hung close to earth that night. They both were young. Suddenly a great light dawned for father. "Mollie, tell me. Was that why you said yes?"

And what do you think? He found out then, what for eighteen years he had not known—that his wife married him because he made a home run? Now, are not women funny? And picnics and baseball are real first-aid, are they not?

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

When washing and rinsing colored materials add a teaspoonful of Epsom salts to each gallon of water, and even the most delicate shades will neither fade nor run. Serge or merino dresses which have been dyed black can be safely washed in this way without any risk of the dye running.

To get rid of the squeak in shoes, pour linseed oil about one-fourth inch deep in an old pan and stand the shoes in this. Black leather shoes may stand this way over night, but white taken out before the oil draws into the uppers. The oil soaking also adds the wearing quality of the shoes.

If you are bathing, then wash in feet, bathe in a lotion made by dissolving ten grains of quinine in four ounces of alcohol. Dissolve the quinine in vinegar or lemon juice and then add the alcohol.

Chocolate Blanc Manger.—Soak a package of gelatin in a half pint of cold milk for two hours. Stir a pinch of salt to the soaking point in a double light with a small cupful of granulated sugar. Stir the soaked gelatin into the hot milk and when it dissolves pour the hot liquid gradually upon the yolks and the sugar, then whip in five tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate wet to a paste with a little cold milk. Put all into a double boiler and cook, stirring all the time, until the boiling point is reached. Remove at once from the fire and beat the eggs, and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Pour in a mold wet with cold water and set in a cool place to form. When ready to serve, wrap a cloth in hot water, wrap it for a moment about the mold and turn the contents out upon a chilled glass dish. Eat with powdered sugar and rich sweet cream.

An English Brick and Half Timber House—By John Henry Newson "Home of Character" No. 194

This house though not large nor expensive, has the appearance of being much larger than it is, on account of the long sloping roof over the side porch. The first story is in a rather dark colored red brick, while the half timber work is stained brown and the plaster tinted a cream color. The roof is in red slate or would be equally attractive in tile or green shingles.

The large living room is on the right of the hall and separated from it by a wide archway with columns and bookcase beneath. The den is at the rear of the hall underneath the stair landing. The kitchen, pantry and dining room are placed at the left of the hall, and the entire interior is carried out in the same style of architecture as the exterior. The second floor is reached by a wide open stairway from the main hall and a separate rear stairway from the kitchen. On this floor are four large bedrooms, with ample closets, sewing room, bathroom, and sleeping porch. The attic is finished in two rooms and is reached by stairs from the second floor hall.

This home will interest anyone desiring the best in architectural expression. A more complete description will be given upon application. Address your letter to John Henry Newson, "Homes of Character Dept." The Gazette and be sure to give the number, 194. Mr. Newson answers all inquiries concerning "Homes of Character" without charge.

The cost of a house of this type (38x38 ft.) will depend on the quality of materials used and the elaboration of detail. Using "stock" material throughout it should be built for $5000, but this cost could be increased two or three thousand dollars, and every dollar of this increase would show in the attractiveness of the home.

GLOOMY EXPRESSION TYPICAL OF ENGLISH

REPORTER UNABLE TO FIND
ONLY ELEVEN SMILING PEOP-PLE IN LONDON.

LONDON CABLE NOTES

Female "Bobbies" Will Be Provided to Look After Suffragettes on Probation
if Bill Passes.

London, July 25.—Whether Londoners really wear "a look of hopeless gloom" is a question that has stirred up the London newspapers, following an interview with A. C. Carmichael, the Australian politician, who says they do. Many charges and defenses of an indefinite kind have been made.

One journal has sent out a reporter for exact data. After wandering an hour through London's busiest streets and covering such centers of life as the Strand and Ludgate Hill, the reporter discovered but eleven smiles. Of the eleven with cheerful faces, three were women of the coster class, two shop girls, and three news vendors. The eleventh was a small boy who was tormenting a horse by flicking a dirty handkerchief at its nose.

The other ten were the reporter "clown" himself. The reporter declared as a "deep, vortice frown between the eyebrows, puckered eyes, a moody glance and the mouth drawn in a tight line, drooping at the corners."

"One of the merry eleven, a human derelict selling papers on the embankment, said that in his philosophy, he found it as easy to look happy as Elum.

Appy looks. "It do a sight more for yer," he explained. "If only some of them awkers 'd chuck the dismal line and go in for the merry and bright, they'd soon see the difference in their kinks."

Discover Relics.
The dancing is not a comparatively modern French invention, as is popularly supposed, since a piece of Egyptian pottery over 2,000 years old, now exhibited by the Institute of Archaeology, shows a girl taking such steps in modern ballet style.

The antiquity of toe dancing is only one of the things revealed by the Egyptian collection brought from the Sudan by Prof. John Garstank. Stones of astronomical buildings there show considerable knowledge of the heavens. On one stone was sketched an instrument for measuring angles and taking elevations, while another drawing tends to show that an effort was made to measure the circumference of the moon. Certain marks measuring the shadows of the sun indicate an effort to get the latitude and longitude of Nubia.

American Exhibition.
The latest addition to the Paris Art World is an exhibition of American Art by typical American artists. The exhibitors this year are Bryson Burroughs, Curator of Paintings at the Metropolitan Museum, New York, and Ernest Lawson, of the Art Students League, New York. The work of the two artists is entirely different. Lawson belongs to the Futurist Impressionist school, the palette knife being used more extensively than the brush. Burroughs' work, especially his figure groups, are on the order of mural decorations, and the influence of Botticelli may be clearly seen in them. Lawson, in his landscapes, has admirably caught the clear American atmosphere. Every detail stands out in bold relief; there is no softening mask of haze, or dim suggestion of figures, such as one finds in the works of Corot and his contemporaries. The criticism has been made that his colors are too striking, but when the right perspective has been obtained, they become diffused and soften until they melt into a harmonious whole.

No Summer Diet.
American hot weather foods failed to take with the London public during the recent torrid spell, when the thermometer touched 90 degrees in the shade. The English restaurants in the business section reported a falling off in the demand for roast beef and Yorkshire, steak and kidney pudding and peas and potatoes, although there was an unusual demand for currant roll.

All this talk about summer diet and keeping cool is Tommy rot," said the proprietor of an inn celebrated for its steak and kidney puddings. "I believe in a man sticking to his grub."

A customer ordered a glass of iced water from an old fashioned English waiter.

"Iced water! No, sir," he replied. "Stout or ale, sir, are very nice in this 'eat, sir."

At the same time, the shops selling soft drinks did a heavy business during the hot spell. London's ice supply ran very short and gave out entirely in many sections of the city.

Reform in Dress.
England's hot spell has started an agitation for reform in men's summer dress, but so far none have had courage to follow the American fashion of appearing in the street in shirt and belt. An Englishman never dispenses with the coat except when playing tennis and cricket and boating on the river. To appear without a coat on the links is quite as unpardonable in England as to go coatless in the street.

"My long-suffering brothers," asks one writer in a daily paper, "why not defy the women, take off our coats and waistcoats and be cool. They do these things in America, where woman is a very independent creature. Why can't we do them here? Haven't we the duck?"

He was moved to these remarks," he continues, "by the sight of a gentleman, presumably from the states, sauntering down Shoe-lane. He looked radiantly cool and serenely happy. And for the first time in my mortal career, I envied an Englishman. As a fact, he also looked smart. His straw was neat; his soft collar and horizontal tie were dressy; the awkward transition from gauze to tweed was masked in a becoming silken band. He did not look at all familiar; on the contrary, he looked far more maie than the poor fellows in bales of tweed and homespun slouching around him."

The writer ends with the confession: "We do not like our muggy dress, we do not like our fetters; we suffer, though with tears, for the sake of the ladies. The ladies like to see us looking smart! Smart! Good gracious! And we are not even allowed to powder our greasy complexions."

Female "Bobbies" will be a feature of London life if Lord Bentinck's amendment to the criminal justice bill is carried by Parliament. He proposes that each metropolitan and county borough should have at least two women police constables.

In the general bill, which is considered certain to pass, women officers are provided to look after women prisoners out on probation, and each police station would have its matron.

The men will also gain by the new law. Workers will be allowed seven clear days within which to pay fines, in order that a payday may be included in the period. At present, a prisoner unable to settle the fine on sentence has to take the alternative of jail.

Landmark Doomed.
In spite of the protests of persons and societies interested in the preservation of old landmarks, the building at 55 or 56 Great Queen Street, known as Boswell's House, is doomed to make place for a modern Freemason's hall. Besides its historical association with Boswell, Johnson, Garrick and other distinguished men of that time, the house is an interesting example of seventeenth century design. If not done by Inigo Jones, says one antiquarian, it was at least the work of one of the Jones school.

SUFFRAGETTE WILL DISINHERIT SON IF VOTE IS NOT GRANTED

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
London, July 25.—The example set by Mrs. Margaret Stockman of Hempstead Garden Suburb, in so framing her will as to disinherit her only son if women don't get the vote before her death is likely to be followed by other prominent and wealthy woman suffragists, according to a statement made by her today.

Under the terms of the will, as recently altered by Mrs. Stockman, all her property will go to her only daughter and to her other female relatives, unless Parliament passes a woman suffrage bill before the instrument becomes operative.

"I feel that my daughter is politically handicapped," she says, "and I want her to have a corresponding advantage economically. I am beginning to realize that the economic question is at the bottom of all the difficulties of English women, and therefore if there is anything that the present generation can do to put the women of the next generation on a proper economic basis they ought to do it. Although I cannot mention names I know a number of other women who are thinking of taking the same step."

WILL ABSOLVE CRIMINAL RECORD OF GERMAN IN YEAR OF GOOD CONDUCT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Berlin, July 25.—There are many interesting phases of the proposal to be laid before the Reichstag this year for a revision of the penal code whereby a convicted person if he conducts himself blamelessly for a period of years may completely absolve himself from the stigma of crime, so far as official records go.

At present statistics show that every twelfth person in Germany is "vorbestraft," that is, has a criminal record. The conviction may be for only a petty misdemeanor, but after meeting all requirements for punishment under the law, the guilty person is made to suffer in many ways from this blot upon his record. Upon later conviction for crimes they lose the benefit of milder penalties for persons of blameless records; and their creditability as witnesses suffers, and they have difficulty in finding employment. While this rule holds to some extent in many countries, in Germany it is carried to a greater length than elsewhere. A young man who has been fined for allowing his dog to run loose in a park, for instance, is no longer a person of blameless life within the statute giving youths of a certain grade of education the right to perform their military service in one in- stead of three years. These are only a few of the disabilities attending a record of conviction.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Jaffa, July 25.—An amusing story of oriental justice comes from the arrest of an Austrian subject of twenty years' residence here for insulting the Turkish flag. The Austrian had walked about the streets with the flag around one shoe. As it was clear that he wore the flag in this fashion in order to offend the Turks, and as the Austrian consul with the backing of a powerful government demanded the man's release, the Turk on the bench wisely saved the honor of both countries by this ruling:

"The cause of the offense is the shoe," ruled the resourceful court. "You can therefore take the man, and we will keep the shoe." The Austrian was then released, while the offending shoe is still "doing time."

NEW WRITING SYSTEM IS INTRODUCED AMONG TURKISH ARMY RECRUITS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Constantinople, July 25.—With a view to the spread of education, a new system of writing has been introduced into Turkey, which is now being taught to the unlettered army recruits. It not only reduces the period for mastering the written language to a comparatively short one, but brings it within the mental limitations of the lowest class.

Turkish writing has been an accomplishment of the few, since the people followed agriculture and left business to the hands of the educated Armenians. The old system resembles stenography, with three separate and distinct signs for each sound, according to their position in the word written. Like stenograph, it is necessary to read it correctly. To understand its difficulties, the same sign represents the sounds, o, on, eu and v, and the reader has to know which of these sounds is intended.

In the new writing, words are spelled separately instead of being run together, with phonetic letters. This will greatly facilitate typesetting and allow the construction of a Turkish typewriter. Each soldier is being taught the new writing with the idea that he will introduce it to his family on returning to his native village. His interest in public affairs and sense of national unity will also grow with the reading of books and papers. This is the work that Enver Pasham the war minister, has undertaken.

CEMENT FACTORY BLOWN TO PIECES BY DYNAMITE BY NEW TRUST OWNERS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Dittingen, Canton of Bern, Switzerland—July 25.—The cement factory owned by the Dittingen Trust, which was blown to pieces by its owners June 27, under the supervision of the local police. The great mill had been bought by a syndicate and closed as unnecessary to the system. The syndicate had to continue to pay the taxes as heavy as though the works were in operation, and it was decided therefore to destroy them. Charges of dynamite were placed under the tall chimneys and at various places in the walls throughout the manufactory. The cartridges were exploded simultaneously by electric connections, and the whole place became a mass of broken walls and piled of brick. Some of the townspeople cried, as they saw the place tumble into ruins.

FORMER TRIBESMEN IN DEADLY BATTLES WITH JAP SOLDIERS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Hong Kong, July 25.—Fighting still continues in Formosa, between the natives and the Japanese, in spite of the superior arms and resources of the latter. In one of the recent collisions, a band of 200 tribesmen were mowed down by machine guns, losing a quarter of their number in dead and wounded. Yet in spite of forced retreats, the Formosans seem to present as difficult a problem in pacification as the Spaniards are facing in Morocco. Owing to the wild and rugged nature of the islands, which has never been explored by foreigners, the tribesmen are able to elude the forces they so seriously annoy.

UNIQUE MEMORIAL STATUE FOR CHEMIST BERTHELOT; THREE PEOPLE IN GROUP

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Paris, July 25.—A monument which is to be unveiled soon in memory of Pierre Berthelot, the great French chemist, in front of the College de France, is an unusual memorial. The sculptor, Paul de Saint Marcq, has not only made a statue of the chemist alone but has placed him in a bronze group which includes his wife and the great writer Ernest Renan, author of "The Life of Jesus." All three were of friendship. Renan, who was the first to die, was long mourned by the Berthelots, who outlived him some fifty years and who then died on the same night.

SIX THOUSAND WOMEN SELL FLOWERS TO AID THE RED CROSS SOCIETY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Paris, July 25.—An army of 6,000 women selling artificial flowers in a single day in Paris gathered more than $20,000 for the French Red Cross Society. The campaign was a special one for the benefit of the sick and wounded French soldiers in Morocco. The women charity workers sold the little flowers not only in the streets but in the theaters and the principal cafes and restaurants. Their richest harvest was at the Velodrome on the night of the Johnson-Moran fight. Although the flowers were selling for only two cents, many of the spectators in the ring-side, dropped silver and gold into the collecting boxes.

Valve-in-head MOTOR CARS

The Car of Power, Speed, Dependability and Durability

THE 1915 Buick has all the fundamental Buick principles with the addition of every improvement that has stood the Buick test of worth. In fact, the three chassis, while the same in all essentials as last year, have been improved in every particular where improvement was possible. Many important innovations this season are added to increase the value of the cars:

The new Delco system of starting, lighting and ignition with an increased generating capacity of 35% and automatic spark advance.
Tungsten steel valves.
Carburetor supplied by Stewart-Warner gravity feed vacuum system.

Controls conveniently located on instrument board in the cowl.
Non-skid tires on rear wheels.
Improved quality of leather for the upholstery and finer finish.
High grade stream line bodies, hoods and oval radiators.

These are but a few of the Buick improvements that will convince the buyer that, regardless of price, we are giving more value than ever before. We always have and still guarantee the Buick Valve-in-Head motor to develop more power than any other type of automobile motor of equal size, American or foreign make.

Classified Want Ads

Right in our own home town (we KNOW we are living in the best town in the U. S. A.) dwells a little woman who for pluck and persistency has many a business man beat. Of course you are a doubting Thomas, but read this and be convinced.

She wanted a little extra money (that's a trick many women have) and as she knew her husband was doing his level best she decided to play fair and not say a word to him, but try and earn it at home. She could not leave home as she had some of the world's best citizens in the process of raising.

Some of these young prodigies (every mother thinks that's what her children are) were visitors at the playground. They had to have bloomers. She priced them. Cheap, but not as cheap as she could make them. She made four pair. It did not take long and it was easy work. Now I want to finish this but my space is used up. You finish it. She used the want ad page and you know.

If you do know—you know enough to use that page.

HOPES TO WARD OFF BUSINESS MEN'S IRE

President Holds Conferences to Divert Attention From Present Conditions Charges Correspondent

By Winfield Jones.
Washington, D. C., July 25.—Scared at the results of the blunders of his administration and the record being piled up by the tariff bill against the democratic President Wilson has been holding conferences at the White House with various big business men.

In an effort to make the country believe that he is solicitous for the welfare of "business," and hoping by conferences and their attendant publicity to ward off some of the wrath of business men generally that is preparing to be expressed at the polls next November.

Burn down a man's house and then call him in to "confer" about the situation—it is a parallel case.

Nothing the president can now do, if he holds a million "conferences" can undo the damage inflicted on the whole country by his erroneous tariff and governmental ideas, gleaned from thirty years at Princeton of the dusty and musty old books written by dreamers and theorists like himself.

Three million men are out of work in this country. They are losing at the rate of $1,500,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 a year in wages.

Our imports have increased by $100,000,000 displacing that amount of home made products.

Failures have increased in six months to the extent of $50,000,000. Since October 2 of last year the value of property and securities has fallen by from $10,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000.

"Conferences" held from daylight to midnight at the white house with big business men for the remainder of the President's term won't change in the slightest the fact that the democratic administration has damaged the whole States beyond computation.

A certain barometer of all business in the United States is the movement of freight cars.

How the idle cars this year have compared in number with those of a year ago is shown below:

	1914	1913
January 15	214,839	28,439
February 1	239,678	37,260
February 14	197,052	22,183
March 1	153,907	31,381
March 14	124,866	37,775
April 1	123,512	67,988
April 15	212,869	57,498
May 1	228,379	39,799
May 15	238,542	50,294
May 31	241,802	50,908
June 15	232,334	63,927
July 1	219,543	63,704

The disparity between the numbers of freight cars lying idle in 1913 and 1914 amounts to an absolute refutation of the claim of President Wilson that business conditions are sound.

When, as on May 21, 1914, the number of idle cars exceeded by 190,000 the number that were idle on the same date in 1913, four months before the Underwood tariff went into operation, and when business was at the normal mark of protection prosperity, there was, manifestly, something wrong with business.

The democratic party has lost its whole organization in the Third Louisiana District to the progressive party, and is likely to lose the entire state of Louisiana.

Included among the leaders of the bolt there are all the democratic congressional committee of the third district, one of whom is the brother of United States Senator-elect Broussard, who still represents the district, and another is W. H. Price, a highly prominent state democratic leader and for 25 years a member of the state committee.

Will any sane person say that the Louisiana democrats are breaking away from their ancient landmarks for "psychological" reasons?

An Association Favored.
"Aren't you afraid politics will get into big business out your way?" "I'm hoping it will," replied the man who refuses to be scared; "maybe it will improve politics."

Diamonds Worth $5,000,000,000.
The production of diamonds from the earliest times to the present day amounts to over 23 tons, or over $1,000,000,000 in value, uncut. Their value cut and mounted is almost $5,000,000,000. A box three feet high, six feet wide and eight feet long would contain them. Nearly all diamonds of the present day come from South Africa.

Discouraging.
Her admirer swallowed hard, pulled at his collar, and finally made up his mind. "Lillian," he said desperately, "let's get married!" Lillian's bored expression vanished. "All right," she agreed; "but who can you marry?"—Judge.

At the left, Francisco de la Barra (for) and Francisco Carbajal; Mexican national palace; Victoriano Huerta and Francisco Madero (center); right, Venustiano Carranza and Porfirio Diaz.
